(Notice to all Colleges, Universities, and Graduating Students Applying for Provisional License)

PM&DC has received multiple complaints from graduating students facing difficulties in applying for their provisional licenses. Upon scrutiny, it is found that the issue arose due to the following reasons:

- 1) Pending Student Registration by Colleges: If a student has not received a student registration number, it is due to their respective college not providing the required student record and registration fee to PM&DC. The student registration process is initiated only upon the college's request. Therefore, such students are advised to contact their college directly, as PM&DC can only process student registration upon receiving the necessary details from the institution.
- 2) Non-Uploaded Graduation Records by Universities: Some students encounter errors while creating an account on the PM&DC portal for their provisional license. This occurs when their affiliated university has not uploaded their student registration and graduation record to the PM&DC graduation portal. Since it is mandatory for graduating students to have their names listed in the portal, affected students must contact their respective university to ensure their names are added.

To prevent delays that impact students' house job placements, Colleges and Universities are strictly directed to ensure timely submission of student registration documents and the prompt addition of graduates to the PM&DC graduation portal.

Moreover, in accordance with the PM&DC Registration Regulations 2023, all medical and dental institution, as well as recognized hospitals and training institutions, are strictly directed not to enroll any student in a house job without a valid PM&DC provisional license or confirmation of an application submitted via the PM&DC online portal.

PM&DC shall not be held responsible for any delays in house jobs due to pending actions from colleges or universities. Institutions must fulfill their responsibilities in a timely manner to facilitate a smooth transition for graduating students.
